

First Day of School Essentials

Each child in the state of Utah is required by law to attend school. Not every child is equipped to attend school let alone feel comfortable doing so. The State of Utah provides a particular amount of money per child when the child remains in states custody. These funds are allocated to the hosting home and the daily essentials. Once the summer ends and school starts it is a necessity for each child to be prepared for the school year to engage in the years knowledge it is about to bestow.

Each child would need:

- Notebooks designated to each subject
- Back Pack
- School Clothes, Socks and Shoes
- Pencils, Pens, Crayons, etc
- Calculator
- School Registration

A lot of times these expenses are coming right out of pocket from our proctoring families because funds are not available to cover these expenses, and with the economy fluctuating as it is a lot of times our families struggle to cover these expenses.

Donations and contributions towards these efforts will assist our family's to provide these essentials for the child in custody, thus for allowing the child to study comfortable in school.

Donations can be made by:

- Donating school supplies at the beginning of the school year
- Donating new clothing
- Gift Card donations
- Check or Money Order
